THE SITUATION IN ONE SENTENCE

This is a healthy, fully-distributed 1.3M account with brand-safe model/lifestyle content and engagement most accounts dream about — its one meaningful exposure is the "@mikagambles" line in the bio, which points a mixed-age megaphone at a gambling account and ties the two accounts' fates together.

02 /

THE ONE MOVE

Remove "@mikagambles" from the bio (and the reciprocal "@mikalafuente" from the alt's bio).

Why it matters more than it looks:

- A 1.3M audience includes a large under-18 segment that Meta actively walls off from gambling content; a main-bio handle link is a standing invitation across that wall.
- Cross-linked accounts share fate in review: if the alt ever takes gambling-promotion strikes (one sponsor code away — see companion report), the bio link makes this account the funnel that fed it.
- Discovery doesn't need the bio: the alt is already growing on its own distribution (39–115K views/reel). Occasional story mentions to an age-gated audience do the same job without the permanent public tie.

— The bio at audit time: "Tiempo al tiempo / @mikagambles / mikalafuente.com" — the gambling alt advertised on a 1.3M mixed-age surface.

FINDINGS

HIGH — BIO FUNNEL FROM A 1.3M MIXED-AGE AUDIENCE TO A GAMBLING ACCOUNT

- Covered in Section 2 — this is the report's only significant finding, and it's a five-minute fix. Everything else below is hygiene.

MEDIUM — TWO WATCH-ITEMS

- Keep the accounts editorially separate: no casino clips, jackpot stories, or gambling jokes on this account — the moment gambling content appears here, the 1.3M account inherits the alt's category ceiling. Today the grid is clean (fashion, birthdays, travel, brand work); keep it that way.
- Suggestive-framing drift: a minority of posts lean swimwear/body-framed. Engagement says the audience is here for personality and aesthetics; nothing currently crosses into demotion territory, but keep covers face-forward and avoid body-part-centered crops as the algorithm keeps tightening around adult-adjacent framing.

– Recent grid: brand-safe model/lifestyle content – runway, birthday, editorial. This is what full distribution looks like; protect it.

LOW — HYGIENE

- Alcohol-adjacent party content (🍷 reels): fine for this audience, teen-filtered automatically; nothing to change.
- mikalafuente.com is a clean personal site with no risky outbound links — good. Keep the bio link pointing there rather than to any aggregator.

CONTENT FINDINGS

#	POST (DATE)	ISSUE	SEVERITY	ACTION
1	Sep 17 reel — "❤️🍷💌🪩" (62K likes)	Party/alcohol-adjacent; fine	LOW	Keep
2	Jun 2025 — birthday recap (64K likes)	Clean	LOW	Keep
3	Sep 2024 — "Very classy very demure" (117K likes)	Clean	LOW	Keep
4	Jun 2024 — birthday (172K likes)	Clean; best performer	LOW	Keep
5	May 2024 — Capri dump (115K likes)	Clean	LOW	Keep
6	May 2024 — football box (134K likes)	Clean	LOW	Keep

The remaining grid follows the same pattern: high-performing, brand-safe lifestyle content with zero policy flags. This table is short because the account is genuinely clean.

THE TWO-ACCOUNT PICTURE

THIS ACCOUNT — PROTECT

- Full distribution — `62–172K likes/post`
- Brand-safe grid; verified; clean link chain
- Sponsor-friendly surface worth real money

THE TIE TO THE ALT — CUT

- Bio funnels minors-inclusive 1.3M to casino content
- Shared fate if the alt takes sponsor-promo strikes
- Zero upside: the alt already reaches `39–115K/reel` on its own

One sentence of strategy: this account is the business; the alt is the hobby that could cost the business — keep them structurally separate and both can run.

ACTION PLAN

Today: remove "@mikagambles" from the bio; have the alt drop "@mikalafuente" from its bio the same day.

This week: agree the editorial wall (no gambling content on this account, no cross-posting); review any story highlights for casino clips.

Ongoing: keep covers face-forward on swimwear content; re-check the link chain whenever the website changes; monthly Account Status glance for baseline.

WHAT WE NEED FROM THE CLIENT

1. Settings → Account Status — both panels (expected clean; we want the baseline screenshot).
2. Insights → Audience age split — sizes the minor-audience exposure that motivated the bio fix.
3. Confirmation of any brand contracts with morality/brand-safety clauses (the gambling tie is the kind of thing those clauses catch).

Re-audit at 30 days: confirm de-coupling done and grid still clean — this one should be a two-line check.

This audit assesses compliance with Meta's published Community Standards and Recommendation Guidelines as understood at the audit date. Enforcement is partly discretionary; no compliance change guarantees continued reach. All recommendations aim at genuine compliance — we do not advise disguising violating content, which converts reach problems into account-loss problems.
