Background Report: Alberto Riehl and the "Predictable Premium" Operation

Prepared: July 2026 Purpose: Consumer-protection due-diligence summary for anyone considering doing business with Alberto Riehl, DreamSource Consulting, Predictable Premium, or Quantum Leap Consulting. Nature of this document: A compilation of public records, court filings, state licensing data, and published customer complaints. Verified facts and unproven allegations are labeled separately throughout.

Executive Summary

Alberto Manuel Riehl markets a paid lead-generation program ("Predictable Premium," ~$3,300–$5,800) to licensed life-insurance agents through several company names. The public record shows three categories of concern:

1. A federal fraud lawsuit naming him personally, alleging the program is a fraudulent pyramid scheme with an "illusory" money-back guarantee.
2. A documented, multi-state history of professional license revocations — insurance licenses revoked in Ohio and Hawaii, plus a canceled Hawaii real-estate license and lapsed California insurance licenses.
3. A large, consistent body of customer complaints across independent platforms alleging refund refusal, undelivered services, and aggressive conduct.

He also has a prior business that collapsed amid a bank fraud investigation (per his own published account). Notably, he sells services to licensed insurance agents despite having lost his own insurance licenses in multiple states.

1. Identity & Background

- Full name: Alberto Manuel Riehl
- Approx. age / DOB: ~50 (born ~May 1974), per public-records aggregators (unverified)
- Locations associated: Laguna Niguel, CA; Las Vegas, NV; Austin, TX; formerly Honolulu, HI
- Current business role: Founder/operator of DreamSource Consulting and the "Predictable Premium System"

Prior business failure (his own account): A 2017 Forbes "Fail Forward" profile describes an earlier phone-based insurance business he ran (~2004) that collapsed after his bank froze his merchant-services account during a fraud investigation, cutting off his ability to process credit cards. He states he lost his house and car and couch-surfed for years afterward. (Source: Forbes, 2017 — self-reported, sympathetic framing.)

2. The Entities (all trace back to him)

Entity	Details
DreamSource Consulting LLC	Primary operating company. Nevada registration listed at 2300 W Sahara Ave, Ste 800, Las Vegas, NV 89102. California address: 30025 Alicia Pkwy PMB 238 (a private mailbox, not an office), Laguna Niguel, CA 92677. Founded ~Feb 2015.
Predictable Premium R and D LLC	Separate legal entity behind the "Predictable Premium" brand. Named as a co-defendant in the federal fraud lawsuit (see §3).
Quantum Leap Consulting (quantumleapc.com)	"Business-in-a-Box" branded service; same operator.
Earlier phone-insurance company (~2004)	The venture from the Forbes story; folded after the bank fraud hold.

The shared "PMB 238" mail-drop address links the DreamSource and Predictable Premium brands to a single point of contact rather than a real office.

3. Federal Fraud Lawsuit (VERIFIED — public court record)

Case: Tae Rho v. DreamSource Consulting LLC, et al. Case No.: 8:23-cv-00705 Court: U.S. District Court, Central District of California Judge: David O. Carter (Magistrate: Karen E. Scott) Filed: April 24, 2023

Named defendants: - DreamSource Consulting LLC - Alberto Riehl (individually) - Predictable Premium R and D LLC - Doe defendants

Nature of suit: "Other Fraud" (personal-property tort), diversity jurisdiction. Filed by the law firm EKO Law / Erickson Kramer Osborne (San Francisco) as a proposed class action on behalf of life-insurance agents (initially New York Life agents) who bought the program.

Core allegations in the complaint: - Once agents pay, they find most or all of the marketing tools violate major carriers' strict advertising rules, rendering the program unusable. - The program's true aim is to convert paying customers into salespeople recruiting more buyers — described as a pyramid-scheme structure. - The advertised "100% money-back guarantee" is "illusory" — refunds are stalled or denied.

Procedural history: - All defendants served in May 2023. - Defendants failed to respond; clerk entered default on July 11, 2023. - Plaintiff voluntarily dismissed the case without prejudice on November 24, 2023.

Honest characterization of this outcome: "Without prejudice" means the case was dropped, not decided — there was no court finding of liability, and the claim can be refiled. A voluntary dismissal following a default is commonly consistent with a private settlement (often confidential), but that is not confirmed on the public docket. What is verified: a federal fraud complaint was filed naming Riehl personally, the defendants defaulted rather than defend, and the matter ended by voluntary dismissal.

4. Professional License Revocations (VERIFIED via state records — worth re-confirming directly)

A repeated pattern across multiple states and multiple industries:

Jurisdiction	License	Status
Ohio	Insurance agent license #596586 (issued Jan 2002)	Revoked
Hawaii	Resident insurance producer license #365338	Revoked effective Dec 31, 2013
Hawaii	Real estate salesperson license #rs-66181-0	Canceled
California	Insurance license(s)	Expired since ~March 2003

There is also a Hawaii BBB profile under "Alberto Manuel Riehl" (Honolulu).

Why this matters: He markets a business system to licensed insurance agents while having lost or let lapse his own insurance licenses in at least two states — a directly relevant credibility issue for his target customers.

These come from state licensing databases surfaced via search; anyone relying on them formally should re-pull them directly (Ohio DOI Agent Locator, Hawaii DCCA/PVL, California DOI "Check a License").

5. Customer Complaint Pattern (ALLEGATIONS — user-generated, credible as a pattern)

Across multiple independent platforms, the same themes recur:

- Refund refusal / stalling — the single most common complaint. Example: a customer requesting a refund for 4 months with no result.
- Undelivered services — guaranteed "done-for-you" business-owner appointments not delivered in the promised quantity.
- No written contract — customers asked for credit-card info without a contract; when one requested a contract, Riehl reportedly declined and pointed to Facebook reviews / BBB instead.
- Aggressive / abusive conduct — reports of verbal abuse on Zoom/phone calls and threats to report complaining agents to their insurance carriers (threatening their livelihoods).
- Program cost: reported at $3,300 to $5,800.

Where these appear: - Insurance-Forums.com — main "DreamSource / Predictable Premium" thread runs 23+ pages ("Avoid Predictable Premium! SCAM!!") - Ripoff Report — multiple filings under "Alberto Riehl / Predictable Premium" - Trustpilot — dreamsourceconsulting.com reviews (mixed) - BBB — Laguna Niguel and Honolulu profiles - YouTube — "Warning: Watch Before You Join Predictable Premium! $5,800 Scam"

Balancing note (for credibility): Positive reviews also exist, but many appear on paid/affiliate "review" blogs (e.g., jessesingh.org, zuubly.com, billyunz.com, noblefinancialagency.com) and his own site/Facebook, which read like SEO/marketing content rather than independent testimony. Complainants have reported the same in forum threads.

6. Associated People

- Ryan Unrau — listed as Sales Director at Predictable Premium; named alongside Riehl in customer complaints. (Note: "Automate My Cash Flow" and "System Architects Inc." are Unrau's own prior employers, not Riehl entities — do not conflate.)
- Andrés Angarita Ríos — listed as a Commission Sales Associate at Predictable Premium.

7. Criminal Records — What Was and Wasn't Found

A search for arrest/criminal records returned no verifiable criminal record for this Alberto Riehl. Every "Riehl charged with fraud" result was a different person (e.g., Philip E. Riehl, the Pennsylvania accountant in a $60M Amish/Mennonite Ponzi scheme; and unrelated men named Alberto Del Rio and Alberto Chang-Rajii). People-search sites advertise a "criminal records" tab for his profile, but it is paywalled and unverified and should not be treated as evidence of anything.

Bottom line: The verified adverse record is civil and regulatory (lawsuit + license revocations), not criminal. For a definitive arrest check, search county criminal court indexes in Orange County, CA; Clark County, NV; and Travis County, TX, and confirm any hit against his DOB/middle name before relying on it.

8. How to Independently Verify Everything Above

- The lawsuit: PACER or Justia/Dockets — search case 8:23-cv-00705 (C.D. Cal.). Pull the filed complaint for the specific counts.
- License revocations: Ohio DOI Agent Locator; Hawaii DCCA "People/Business Search"; California DOI "Check a License."
- Business entities: Nevada Secretary of State (SilverFlume) for DreamSource Consulting LLC and Predictable Premium R and D LLC — confirm officers/registered agent.
- Complaints: BBB (Laguna Niguel + Honolulu), Trustpilot, Ripoff Report, Insurance-Forums.com.
- The lawyers already on this: EKO Law / Erickson Kramer Osborne, San Francisco — 415.635.0631, eko.law.

Important Disclaimers (keep these attached if you share this)

- The federal lawsuit was dismissed without prejudice — there is no court finding of fraud or liability. Its allegations are allegations.
- Customer complaints are user-submitted and individually unverified; they establish a pattern, not proven facts about any single transaction.
- License data was surfaced via search of state databases and should be re-confirmed at the source before being relied on formally.
- No criminal record was found; do not imply one exists.
- This document compiles public information for legitimate consumer-protection and due-diligence purposes. Share the facts and sources; avoid adding characterizations you can't source.
